10.05-10.35 MORNING NETWORKING BREAK

10.35-10.55 MEASURING THE IMPACT AND VALUE OF LEGAL DESIGN IN COMMERCIAL CONTRACTING IN LAW AND ECONOMICS FRAMEWORK

We need law and economics to do the scientific measurement necessary for legal design to be seen as on the stage of science.

Law and economics is a valid tool and approach to reflect on what should be empirically investigated in the practice of legal design.

The neoclassical (mainstream) theoretical foundation of economic analysis of law is, however, at times far from reality as it often predicts uncooperative and even selfish behaviour. In real life people do cooperate, have empathy, emotions and even behave in an altruistic way.

For those reasons, behavioural law and economics and conventional wisdom are needed to complement the teachings from standard theory in the field of commercial contracting.
