Morning Coffee

09.00-09.15 OPENING REMARKSModerators:Partner Jorma Vartia, *Laissa*CEO Heikki Ilvessalo, *Ilves SolutionsWHAT IS HAPPENING IN THE LEGAL TECH MARKET?*09.15-10.00 THE RISE OF LAWYERS IN A DIGITAL WORLD

Being a lawyer has never been more exciting. New technologies, such as artificial intelligence, blockchain and smart contracts, are transforming what it means to be a lawyer. And understanding and adapting to these changes is the key challenge facing every lawyer today. It is a time of great uncertainty in the legal profession, but it is also a time of great opportunity. Today we literally have the opportunity to define what the “lawyer of the future” will look like; and to imagine the likely role and function of lawyers in the near future, we need to start by developing a much better understanding of how disruptive technology is changing our world.

Senior Legal Counsel/Professor of Business & Financial Law Erik Vermeulen, Signify/Tilburg University

10.00-10.20 THE FUTURE OF THE LEGAL PROFESSION – TRENDS, TECH AND TRANSFORMATION

Based on the Scandinavian industry report ‘The Future of the Legal Professional’, the presentation will focus on the challenges and drivers of the legal profession across industries and countries. The report explores 4 key areas: Pandemic Effects, Mental Health, Tech Washing and The Creative Lawyer. In particular, there will be a focus on the need for collaborative and knowledge management tools driven by new ways of working.

11.10-11.25 TRANSFORMING LEGAL TEAMS TO DRIVERS OF EFFECTIVE CROSS-FUNCTIONAL ALIGNMENT

Never before has alignment and breaking down silos been as crucial. To enable collaboration and ensure it does not come at the expense of control, legal teams need to fully embrace Legal Operations. In this session, we take a look at how businesses can work proactively to enable sustainable progress and minimize risk using workflows and technology — and how Legal can be the driving force behind this transformation.

CEO & Founder Nils-Erik Jansson, Precisely

11.25-11.45 SERVICE DESIGN – PRACTICAL & SYSTEMIC EXAMPLES OF LEGAL TECH APPLICATIONS

Technologies that enable legal players to change the game is a fact – but in the eyes of the customer, HOW do they drive change, ?

- WHICH problems do legal tech and legal services solve?
- HOW are these problems solved today?
- WHAT does the likely future solutions look like?
- HOW to adopt, use and enjoy future new service design – especially customer empathy creating – solutions?

Strategic Designer Mikko-Pekka Hanski, Investor at Lexly

11.45-12.05 Q&A12.05-12.30 SHORT SESSIONS*12.30-13.30 LUNCH*13.30-13.45 SURPRISE*13.45-14.15 NORDIC LEGAL TECHNOLOGY STUDY 2021

Wolters Kluwer conducted a study among general counsel in the Nordics earlier this year, with the aim of discovering how corporate legal departments are transforming into smarter and more efficient business units. This session will provide an overview of the most surprising and compelling results of the study, including the current situation of legal departments in the Nordics, digital strategy and maturity and the challenges when introducing legal tech.

CHANGES AHEAD FOR LEGAL TEAMS14.15-14.35 MÆRSK'S JOURNEY TOWARDS WORLD CLASS LEGAL OPS

The traditional role of the legal function is to have lawyers provide legal advice. However, in today's world, with increasing complexity and demands, Legal is under pressure to deliver ‘more for less’ and faster. Key to realizing this goal is to improve Maersk Legal's ‘engine room’ – optimizing the Legal Operations. This will free up lawyer's time from ‘re-inventing the wheel’ to enable focus on true value-adding work. Also, by relying on other competencies than pure Legal (incl. project management, finance, communication, and IT), the Legal function is able to provide better (and cheaper) business solutions.
